

LA CROSSE GOLFERS GO TO JANESVILLE FOR TOURNAMENT

Stars Will be Present at the State Meeting and Large Attendance is Anticipated

About twenty La Crosse people have either already departed or will leave tonight for Janesville to attend the tournament of the Wisconsin State Golf Association, which opens there tomorrow and promises to be the most largely attended in the history of the Scotch game in Wisconsin, and the score are expected to be proportionately low. La Crosse people already in Janesville are: Frank P. Hixon, Joseph M. Hixon, G. W. Burton, L. C. Colman, Alfred James, Col. F. A. Copeland, Robert Gordon, Wallace Tourtellotte, Nathaniel Tourtellotte. The manner of conducting the tournament is considerably different from that of other years, and several unique events are to be introduced. Among others, there will be a competition for players over fifty years old, and on Friday, the last day of the tournament, the women will be given free swing.

In other years the tournament has opened on Thursday, and closed with the finals in the championship and consolation events on Saturday afternoon. This year, however, there will be an additional day, and to permit this the tournament will start on Tuesday. The players will tee up at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning for the qualifying round, and in the afternoon the best sixteen, and the second sixteen will be paired for the first round, or match play. Those who drop out will have a chance at a handicap contest, and on Wednesday there will be a thirty-six hole all-day play, each player making up a card of his best eighteen holes. Meanwhile the second round of the two flights of match play will be decided, the second or afternoon round, being the semi-finals. Thursday the championship will be decided with a thirty-six hole match, to be duplicated in the consolation event.

Friday will be devoted to a woman's contest, the state championship being decided at the medal play, according to the program provided by the Mississippi club, the entertainers.

The entry list is not yet to be given out, the association officers remaining silent on the identity of the competitors, pending the closing of the lists on Monday night before the tournament.

It is certain, however, that William A. Yule, the state champion, will enter to defend his title, and it is likely that his Kenosha clubmates also will be on hand with their usual series of 225 yard drives, and approach shots to match the tee work. "Dick" Cavanaugh, the 1904 state champion this spring has threatened to give up the game, but he may be on hand with Yule and Pettit. B. M. Pettit, who captured the University of Chicago team in the intercollegiate event at Chicago a few days ago, is playing in fine form and he may take the honors of this year. If he should, it would be the fourth time that the cup has gone to Kenosha. Fred Pettit, his brother, Cavanaugh and Yule having been the other holders. It is to this group of Kenosha youngsters that all the other golfers of the state look with fear and trembling.

May Miss Some Veterans.

The Milwaukee delegation will be larger than usual, though some of the veterans may be missing. "Ham" Vose, the father of the game in Wisconsin, will not be among the absent, and L. T. Boyd, L. W. Niemann, Louis Allis and one or two other Milwaukee Country club men also are expected. G. H. Russell, a 1905 first flight man will be unable to compete this year. The Blue Mound club of Milwaukee will have a goodly delegation. H. D. Plimpton, a scratch man of that club, who landed well to the top of the first flight at La Crosse in 1905, will not be present, having his own wedding to attend on the date of the opening of the tournament. Dr. A. G. White, Otto J. Koch and Warren B. Bullock, the other scratch players of that club, however, will be entered, with one or two others who are playing good golf. The Lake Shore Country club, a new Milwaukee organization, will have a team of six players, including the Fowle brothers, Dr. Heinemann and George J. Carroll.

MILL STREET PAVEMENT SPRINKLED WITH MILK

Team of Louis Casperson Runs Away and Street is Filled With Cans and Bottles

Considerable excitement reigned yesterday morning on Mill street near the crossing when the team belonging to Louis Casperson ran away.

The wagon had been tied near the Allen hotel on Island street and Mr. Casperson was in the hotel when the horses suddenly became frightened at the cars, broke from their halter and turned round the corner and up Mill street.

In front of the Moss' barber shop the tongue of the wagon struck a telephone pole the horses being thrown onto the sidewalk and the wagon to the other side of the street. A hole was knocked in the pole.

Milk cans and glass were strewn from the corner to the pole where the team stopped. Mill street is the first to have its brick pavement sprinkled with milk. No one was injured.

HORSE FALLS IN AN OLD CISTERN

The caving in of an old cistern at the corner of Seventh and Mississippi streets Saturday afternoon, threw a delivery horse into a ditch six feet deep.

It took six men to pull the horse out of the hole. No damage was done either the horse, harness or wagon and the horse was driven away a few minutes after being taken from the hole. The caving was caused by the rotting away of the planks that covered the hole.

It is needless to say that the team could not have lost yesterday's game after that.

ANOTHER SCANDALOUS EXAMPLE OF "IMMUNITY."

In France, John D. Rockefeller makes the surprising statement that he has had no connection with Standard Oil in twelve years, and that the announcement that its officers will be prosecuted for violations of the American anti-trust laws will not alter his plan to immediately return to the United States.

And in Washington, D. C., U. S. A., an official of the department of justice announces that it is "unlikely that such men as Rockefeller, Rodgers and Archibald will be indicted," any more than the presidents of railroads are reached by such proceedings, but that the government "may get some officials half way up," as it is "not after mere clerks."

No wonder the pending prosecutions have not altered Mr. Rockefeller's plan to come home. His staying away will not prevent the indictment of some of the "half-way up officials," and he has been assured from Washington that he, personally, is in no danger of prosecution.

There will be no disposition to question the accuracy of the semi-official statement from Washington to the effect that Rockefeller and Rodgers will not be reached by the Standard Oil prosecutions; it is indeed true that history shows the resumption of a precedent that railroad presidents and oil kings and the like do not bear the brunt of penalization although they reap the profits of thievery. It is a case of more of this "immunity" that has no other excuse than fraudulent complicity with graft or subservience to it on the part of our lawmakers, or cowardice on the part of our prosecutors.

If it is true that the laws of the nation make it impossible to reach the chief recipients of the profits of commercial crime, the laws are dishonest laws and should be amended at once. If it is true that the laws are right, but that a precedent has been established to permit the vassal of monopoly to take the place of its master in the criminal courts, the quicker some prosecutor of nerve and gumption rides roughshod over that precedent the better for the self respect of our people. It frequently occurs that a burglar is caught with a carefully trained child for an assistant. The little one is made to get through transoms and small apertures where a man could not pass. In case of detection and capture of a pair of this sort, would the prosecutor arraign the child and ignore the burglar? It would be just as right and logical to do so as it is to prosecute the Standard Oil employe and decline to molest Rockefeller and Rodgers.

OF OTHER ICE TRUSTS.

Some time ago The Tribune announced the prosecution of an ice monopoly in Dayton, Ohio, in which an ice trust was "busted," and prosecutions were threatened.

Now comes the news that the prosecuting attorney of Kansas City has begun proceedings to "bust" the ice trust in that community. The ice men have been enjoined from fixing a uniform price, and proceedings to annul their charters have been started.

In the Dayton case, there was no other evidence of the existence of an ice trust than the fact that the price was uniform. In La Crosse there is an ice trust, and there is no need to seek evidence of its existence. The ice men of La Crosse have caused to be published a uniform schedule of prices for ice, over their several signatures, admitting the facts that constitute the offense.

Why should the officials of this city permit an ice trust to openly and insolently violate the laws here, while other cities are preventing them from doing so by stealth? This ice business could be made extremely unprofitable for the ice kings, were some active and intelligent officer of justice to get busy with them.

A WISE POLITICAL ENDORSEMENT.

The democrats of La Crosse county have done well to indorse the candidacy of the greatest of popular rule in America. No higher compliment can be paid to any statesman than is represented in the adoption of his views by the greatest men in an opposing political party. President Roosevelt and Senator La Follette have not been ashamed to utilize the many ideas of Mr. Bryan that a few years ago gave the republican party its excuse for calling the Nebraskan a "populist," and even an "anarchist." If Mr. Bryan is so great that his political antagonists must copy him, he ought to be good enough for his own party.

There may be ground to question whether the seizure of the democratic party four years ago by the Spinix of Usopus and the Bellmont-Morgan-Taggart monopoly crowd has not put in a hole too deep for even the great Mr. Bryan to save it, but there is no question as to his entire fitness for the office of president of the United States. Indeed, if any man ever was entitled to the honor by virtue of his deeds, that man is Bryan. The best element of the republican party admitted this when they stole his thunder; it remains to be seen whether they did not forget to steal his lightning.

THE UTTER INCOMPETENCE OF O'DEA.

Again there has been an expensive demonstration of the utter ineptness of Andy O'Dea to coach a university crew. Wisconsin landed at the bottom of the heap at Poughkeepsie Saturday as precisely as though things had been planned to that end.

There are not more than a dozen men in Wisconsin who do not remember with pride the great race rowed by the McConville crew—the only winning crew ever turned out in our state university, and there are but the few referred to who do not recall with regret and shame for our toadying institutions the fact that, at the conclusion of that race, Mr. McConville was released and his place given to a favorite who had never done anything and is incapable of doing anything to justify his retention as assistant to a real, live coach.

It was a good thing for Mr. McConville in a business way, that he was released and permitted to devote his energies to a business career. He dislikes all public reference to the incident in his college years that marks the blackest spot in Wisconsin University athletics. But one cannot see, year after year, the wanton waste of money lavished upon a forlorn hope of a crew, by which those responsible for the McConville-O'Dea atrocity hope to permit their protegee to scratch a winning in order to justify their most reprehensible conduct, without a recurrence of the thought that Fortune is giving a certain clique a square deal.

The fates are kind to deserving people, but on top of the woeful incompetence of O'Dea the public reads in this long line of defeats the indictment of those who wronged a capable man in order to tender his laurels to a most indifferent athlete. Fate has decreed that Wisconsin shall never win an intercollegiate boat race while Andy O'Dea is retained as coach at the state university.

The Senate made Mr. Barnes postmaster at Washington, despite the Morris incident. That was right, provided Barnes was not at fault and was eligible. However, as there was evidence that the woman was dragged and trampled upon, and that her clothing was torn by the officials, the senate was wrong in voting down a request for an investigation. If the claim that the charges concerning the treatment of Mrs. Morris are a hoax, the senate should not fear an investigation. Here is a chance for a "square deal."

Eleven innings, and every inning worth the price of admission, was the record at the baseball park Sunday. The injury met with by Medwitsky, the Chams' splendid left fielder, was the one jarring feature of an exhibition that kept 2,000 on their tiptoes for nearly two hours.

"Our wisdom is not less at the mercy of fortune than our property." Impaired wisdom imperils property; forgetting now to advertise or never learning how—exposes property to the mercy of fortune.

In a New York hospital a babe that arrived ahead of schedule is being encouraged to mature in an oven. It is likely to prove a half-baked kid.

And the neighbors say it DID make Charley SO mad!

AT THE THEATRES

The change of program at the Bijou for the week began this afternoon. Many good things are promised as usual. Cowles and Alden are the features in a pastoral playlet "Johanna's Courtship," and should prove a big drawing card. The Wiley Ferris company in acrobatic stunts, presenting the Irish-Japanese, are said to be the most versatile sketch in vaudeville. Brownie and Brownie in their own sketch "Jack Tumbles," have a vehicle for fun purposes only. The new song for the week is "When the Golden Sunset Fades Beyond the Hills." On the moving picture machine will be "Skiddo—23," and "The Law of Pardon." Both are said to be the funniest ever. To look the above over one is compelled to conclude that the Bijou will have another screaming show for the week.

WILL BE MARRIED THIS WEEK

It has been announced that Miss Catherine Spettel and Edmund J. Felzer will be united in marriage this week.

Mr. Felzer is a commercial traveler and resides at 1420 George street. Miss Spettel is a resident of the south side. Both have a large circle of friends who offer their congratulations.

BATHHOUSE MAKES MONEY

JUST LIFE

Life's Game.

Hark, the cheering! Hear the laughter,
And the bursts of quick applause;
See the throngs, the glowing faces—
Hush—a momentary pause,
For a graduate is speaking,
And a great career's begun—
Hear! The audience is cheering
For he's the boy who won.

Hark, what is that sound like sobbing
In that poor and dingy room;
Sh-h-h! What crushing burden is it
That comes moaning through the gloom?

Why do all the people scorn him,
Why is he not also hailed,
He's a classmate of the other,
"Ah" you say, "but this boy failed."

So upon Life's stage of action,
Where we struggle through our day,
We are fated if we vanquish
And are cheered along the way;
But if Fate's hand turns against us,
If we gain no mark of fame,
We are scorned because we failed to win
In Life's hard game.

To our poetically inclined friend
and reader we would say "watch this space."

Ye Busy Scribe Again.

Ye scribe was favored by a visit
last Wednesday from Mrs. J. Konz, Sr. It being her birthday as well as ours, we celebrated in true old-fashioned style. She gave us an interesting description of her journey west. She left for her home early only to be surprised by a hundred or so relatives and friends as a reminder that it was her birthday anniversary. A fine time and a fine supper including ice cream was served to all and the young people danced while the older ones visited until the wee small hours proclaimed another day, when they all departed for their homes awfully tired, but happy.—Osseo Recorder.

LARKIN STRUCK BY A CAR AND ROLLED IN CINDERS

North Side Switchman has Narrow Escape From Death; Heels of his Shoes Crushed Off

Frank Larkin of 416 Caledonia street, employed as switchman in the C. M. & St. Paul yards at North La Crosse had a remarkably narrow escape from death at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

He had made the couplings necessary in a string of cars on No. 1 track and had given the signal to the engineer indicating that everything was in readiness to pull up and switch back cars wanted on No. 2 track. He then began whistling the introductory bars of "Can't You See I'm Lonely?"

He was not lonely long. A big furniture car rolled quietly down upon the absent-minded man and knocked him prostrate in the middle of the track. The first car and several following ran over him tearing his clothes and even the soles of his shoes off. When found he was hurried to his home where medical aid was summoned. He is now resting easily at his home with only a few bruises to remind him of the experience through which few men have passed and lived to discuss.

SENATE PASSES CAMP BILL TOO,

Mr Tschanner Receives Word of Complete Success of Site Plan

Postmaster W. B. Tschanner has been informed by Congressman John J. Esch of the final passage by the senate of the sundry civil appropriation bill which includes the purchase price of Camp Douglas, which is to be transformed into a regular military post.

This is the final action necessary before the purchase of the Camp Douglas site and insures the selection of this site as a military camp. The purchase will be made by the war department at once.

Congressman Esch is much pleased at his success in getting the measure through as there were so many larger and more important requests in the bill that it was likely that the Camp Douglas matter would be stricken out at least for this session.

With an increased appropriation for the Wisconsin National guard, by which new uniforms and equipment is to be provided the militia of the state has fared well at this session of congress.

HERMAN J. TIETZ, VETERAN RAILROADER NO MORE

Herman J. Tietz, 1218 Charles street, passed away this morning about 6 o'clock, death resulting from Bright's disease, with which he had been ill for about four months.

Deceased was 51 years of age the 10th of June.

He was born at Neupalo, Germany, and came to this country accompanied by his wife about twenty-five years ago. He came to La Crosse where he accepted a position with the Milwaukee road soon after and has been employed there ever since. He was one of the oldest employees in the north side yards.

Those who survive are a brother, Ferdinand, at Clam Falls, Wis.; Mrs. Tina Witenberg, at Hokah, Minn., and a brother, Carl, in Germany. His widow and children, John, who was 21 years of age today, Misses Lily and Minnie, Henry and Herman and Earl.

The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 from the house and at 2 o'clock from the German Lutheran church at the corner of St. Paul and Avon streets. Rev. Thuroff will officiate and Andrew Stetten is in charge. Interment at Oak Grove.

O'DEA FAILED TO DELIVER THE GOODS AND HE IS DONE FOR

(Special Tribune Dispatch.)

MADISON, Wis., June 24.—News from Poughkeepsie telling the same old story of the humiliation of Wisconsin in the annual regatta caused disappointment in Madison, but no gloom. No more will the Badgers invade the Eastern waters. No more will Andrew M. O'Dea return West with excuses for his failure to "deliver the goods." His resignation took effect with the finish of today's varsity race. Prof. Hutchinson, recently ected arbiter of all Wisconsin athletics, will take charge of the crews henceforth. Aquatics will not be abandoned here, but renewed efforts will be put forth to form a Western rowing league, first including Chicago and Wisconsin, and eventually taking in Iowa and perhaps Minnesota and Michigan. This plan has been fondly entertained ever since the Badgers failed to get any of the thousands of dollars of spectator receipts at the Eastern regatta, and now, with Chicago seriously disposed toward rowing, a start can be made.

This is the talk in Madison now—all of the future not the past. The races today are not being discussed more than to express wonderment that the crews did not do better. Fourth place for the varsity and third for the freshmen are utterly unsatisfactory results.

O'Dea will go into the sheep raising business in the west.

The steamer Rutledge went up river at 2:15 this morning.

JUNE "PROM" FIZZLES

The opposition "June Prom." arranged by a number of young men who announced themselves as disgruntled with the "Rubenized" arrangements for the regular Junior Prom, which was to have been given at Masonic temple Friday night, fizzled out at the last moment, and no dance was held.

Evidently the claims of the promoters that enough tickets had "already been sold" to make their venture a success, was rather exaggerated, for the temple was not even lighted up.

SYRIAN CHILDREN IN DANGER ON CAR TRACKS

MOTORMEN STOP TO CLEAR THEM AWAY

Street car men are complaining about the way in which the Syrian children are allowed to run around on Mill street.

They wander over the tracks with no one to watch them and it seems a miracle that some of them are not injured.

Several of the motorman have had to stop and take the tiny tots off the tracks.

Last week Motorman Harry Ripley had to stop his car three times to take children off the track. One of them was a little baby which had crawled in front of his car.

Last season a little child was killed on the Mill street tracks and for a time the mothers took better care of them, but it seems that they are letting them run about as usual.

Same as today.

La Crosse made it nine consecutive victories during her stay at home, by defeating the fast Wausau team yesterday afternoon 7 to 6 in a sensational eleven-inning game.

It may be said that Bubser won his own game, for after holding down the burly Wausaus for eleven hard innings he made a single in the last half of the eleventh which was fumbled at first and permitted Geyer, at third to record the winning run.

Bubser for La Crosse did great work, but no better than Gasper for the visitors. If anything, Gasper's work was faster than Bubser's. However Gaspar has an aggravating way of "resting" between pitches that makes some unreachable spot on every fan in the grandstand itch and makes everyone else jerky. Gasper has numerous "motions" that would stamp him a grandstand player and at one time during the game Captain Bond complained of the "resting" game. Nevertheless Gasper is a ball player of the first water and it was not his fault that Wausau did not capture La Crosse's scalp.

Medwitsky, our star fielder, turned his ankle while lighting on second base ahead of the ball, and had to be taken from the field during the middle of the game. He was supplanted by George who promptly did a number of star stunts, including a great catch which saved an inning, also some good stick work. Cahill, center fielder for La Crosse, made a to be taken from the field during the game, saving a scarey situation, and was applauded in no small manner by the grand stand Indians.

Altogether yesterday's game was one of the very best exhibitions seen here since the league was organized; one of those games which promote filled grandstands daily.

The attendance yesterday was large, the entire grandstand being well filled and a hundred and fifty boys along the side line.

Saturday's Game.

La Crosse batted Malven out of the box and showed Pappenfuss he was little better in Saturday's game when the locals filed 13 runs to 16 hits without an error. The game was a comedy and Wausau failed to make more than two runs. La Crosse won both games with Wausau, two being postponed on account of rain. Score by innings Saturday:

W. B. U. DEFEATS ST. CHARLES, MINN.

The Wisconsin Business University team administered defeat to the St. Charles (Minn.) team by a score of 8 to 3. The university team played their usual fast and interesting game, making several brilliant plays, which brought forth applause from the fans.

In the first two innings each side was retired in order, only six men facing the pitcher on either side. In the third inning the university boys bunched three hits and secured two runs. St. Charles also secured two runs in their half of the third, making the score even. Each team secured another run in the next two innings, making the score 3 to 3, until the eighth inning. In the eighth To-land's chaps were no longer to be baffled by the deceptive curves of Lade, the St. Charles twirler, for with two men out and two on bases, coupled with three safe hits and two errors on the part of the St. Charles team, four runs were secured. Another score was made in the ninth, making the score 8 to 3.

Kohn, the southpaw pitcher for the W. B. U. team, showed great improvement over the last game. After
